

INSIGHTS + NEWS

Boston Business Journal Publishes “ViewPoint: GE Deal Proves ‘Taxachusetts’ Label is More Like the ‘Myth of Massachusetts’”

BY JOHN F. SHORO • JANUARY 28, 2016

Boston Business Journal published an opinion piece by John Shoro in its January 22 print edition challenging the long-held notion that the Massachusetts tax climate is inhospitable to businesses. Despite the moniker “Taxachusetts,” the Tax Foundation ranks the Bay State in the middle of the pack with respect to business tax environment. Additionally, the state boasts a large, highly educated workforce that is attractive to cutting-edge businesses.

Read a reprint of “ViewPoint: GE Deal Proves ‘Taxachusetts’ Label is More Like the ‘Myth of Massachusetts’” here, or Boston Business Journal subscribers may read John’s article on page 22 of the January 22, 2016 print edition, or online.