

INSIGHTS + NEWS

Reuters, New Hampshire Union Leader, Daily Mail and The Wall Street Journal Quote Josh Lewin in Articles Covering Patriots Fans' Lawsuit Against NFL for "Deflategate" Punishment

APRIL 7, 2016

Reuters, New Hampshire Union Leader, Daily Mail and The Wall Street Journal quoted Josh Lewin in articles published this week covering a lawsuit filed by a group of New England Patriots fans against the NFL in federal court. The plaintiffs, seven fans of the football team, are requesting that the court reverse the league's confiscation of the team's draft picks in connection with the "Deflategate" scandal. Despite allegations that the league's action violated the Racketeering Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, it is unlikely that the court will allow the lawsuit to move forward.

Read "Patriots Fans Sue NFL Over Lost 'Deflategate' Draft Picks" on the Reuters website HERE.

Read "Patriots Fans Sue NFL Over Lost 'Deflategate' Draft Picks" on the New Hampshire Union Leader website HERE.

Read "Patriots Fans Sue NFL Over Lost 'Deflategate' Draft Picks" on the Daily Mail website HERE.

Read "Patriots Fans Sue Over 'Deflategate' Punishment" on The Wall Street Journal website HERE.