The Andover Townsman references Joshua Lee Smith in “Looking for a Land Bridge”

MAY 27, 2016

The Andover Townsman referenced Joshua Lee Smith in an article published on May 19 discussing the Andover Village Improvement Society’s interest in obtaining the permanent right to cross over a tract of land owned by a National Grid. The utility company already offers the public a temporary, but ongoing right to traverse its land, but the society is seeking to secure a permanent arrangement, which it claims will help to consolidate several real estate projects currently underway in the area.
