5th Annual Economic Development Summit: Transforming Main Street

Strategies for transforming neighborhoods

Hear about Worcester's retailainment assets and predictions for what lies ahead for the City.

Today's consumers are investing in immersive experiences where they leave with more memories and fewer products. Amenities have gone wild in multi-use buildings from pet care and bike storage to rooftop vegetable gardens. Retail spaces have been transformed into upscale food markets, unique restaurants, and health and wellness boutiques.
