Patrick Tracey and Doug Radigan Spoke at “An In-House Counsel’s Playbook for Navigating a Cyberattack” with the ACC Northeast (Webinar)

Global cyber and privacy incident costs in 2021 will exceed $6 trillion. The United States remains the biggest target with more than half of all cyberattacks committed against small to mid-sized businesses who lack the financial resources and skills to combat the constantly evolving cyber threat. As a business owner, risk officer, in-house counsel or anyone responsible for cybersecurity for an organization, do you understand your role when a cyberattack occurs?

On this webinar, Patrick Tracey and Doug Radigan and other top leaders in the field provided a playbook and shared best practices that you can follow when a cyberattack occurs. The following areas were covered:

- The role of inhouse counsel regarding cybersecurity
- How to appropriately manage an attack
- Obligations of your business
- Addressing regulatory issues and potential litigation
