Brigid Harrington Presented “Title IX: How to prepare for the new rules on handling sexual misconduct” for Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly (Webinar)

Proposed new regulations from the Biden Administration mean schools may have to comply with new requirements on addressing sexual misconduct. On July 13, Brigid Harrington and a panel of experts presented the webinar “Title IX: How to prepare for the new rules on handling sexual misconduct” for Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly. Brigid and her co-panelists provided an overview of the new rules, discussed which proposed changes are most likely to be the focus of the upcoming comment period, and provided information about what universities and schools should do now to prepare.
