Katie Dorval Presented “How to Be a Financial Badass in Yours 50s and Beyond” at the Worcester Women’s Leadership Conference

The Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce hosted the Worcester Women’s Leadership Conference on May 4. The event, which brought together forward-thinking female leaders, was an opportunity for women to build their careers and share their experiences with other women. The programming for the conference was designed to motivate attendees to overcome traditional barriers and to become influencers, change-agents and leaders in their own fields.

During the day-long event, Katie Dorval presented “How to Be a Financial Badass in Your 50s and Beyond.” She and her co-presenter, financial advisor Julianne Hertel, shared the things women should focus on in the second half of their lives to make sure their dreams come true.
