Title IX Tune-Up: Are Your Policies and Practices Ready for the New Academic Year? (Higher Education Roundtable)

Bowditch higher education attorneys Chelsie Vokes and Erin Clark provided a virtual roundtable discussion on October 1, 2025. The event was designed to help colleges and universities keep their campus Title IX processes compliant. During the roundtable, Chelsie and Erin covered key regulatory changes and reviewed strategies for navigating the new academic year with confidence. Specifically, the webinar focused on:

- How to effectively respond to the recent UCR sexual offense definitions update, including guidance for revising institutional policies
- Best practices for refining supportive measures to ensure they're compliant and practical

The event was designed for campus professionals who support or in any way contribute to campus Title IX processes—including those within the Title IX Office, as well as student affairs/human resources professionals.
