OVERVIEW

Andrea White is a paralegal in the firm's Litigation Department who has worked at Bowditch & Dewey for 11 years. Drawing from over 20 years of legal experience, Andrea offers personalized, client-focused solutions in a variety of matters in all phases of the litigation process, including discovery and trial preparation, document reviews, management, appeals, and more.

Andrea is particularly experienced in the arena of business litigation, including contract disputes and business torts, product liability, intellectual property litigation, insurance-related disputes, corporate control, and professional malpractice. She works with the client's best interest in mind, carefully evaluating each situation to develop and deliver a strategy that best suits the client's needs.

Before Bowditch

Andrea's legal career started in Pennsylvania, primarily focusing on matters involving domestic relations, insurance litigation defense, toxic tort, and personal injury. Following her time in Pennsylvania, she worked at a Connecticut firm before taking time off to raise her family.

Besides work

In her spare time, Andrea enjoys reading, knitting, and has recently started a small engine repair class.
