

AT THE BAR WITH BOWDITCH

A Legal Blog for the Craft Brewing Community

Joseph Duquette to Present “Demystifying Brewery Regulations: Expert Insights from the MBG’s Most FAQs” at the Mass Brewers Guild Technical Brewing & Business Conference

NOVEMBER 4, 2024

The Mass Brewers Guild (MBG) Technical Brewing & Business Conference will be held on November 4 in Framingham, MA. The focus of the day-long event, which will feature workshops and lectures, is to learn best practices from industry experts and create meaningful connections with peers within the craft beer industry. Attendees can attend sessions from the track that best suits their skillset in the industry – Technical Brewing or Business.

At the conference, Joseph Duquette will present on the panel “Demystifying Brewery Regulations: Expert Insights from the MBG’s Most FAQs,” which will address the association’s most frequently asked questions, providing clarity and guidance on essential regulatory topics.

Key discussion points will include:

- An overview of the state’s licensing structures, highlighting what you can and can’t do as a manufacturer, farmer brewer, or brewpub license holder
- A detailed breakdown of the 19H combined licenses and the process of adding a winery license
- Licensing requirements and best practices for contracting your brand at another brewery
- Key regulations and considerations for transporting beer across state lines

Additionally, the panel will tackle other common questions and challenges faced by brewers, offering practical advice and insights.

NOVEMBER 4, 2024

8 AM – 5 PM

Register