
DON'T TAX YOURSELF

A Publication of Bowditch & Dewey's Estate, Financial & Tax Planning Group

Jon Barooshian Quoted by Boston Business Journal and Accounting Today Regarding Wayfair Decision

JULY 6, 2018

The recent U.S. Supreme Court decision against Wayfair grants states greater power in requiring out-of-state retailers to collect sales tax on sales to in-state residents. In the articles below, Jon Barooshian discusses the decision's impact on Massachusetts' companies, as well as a 1992 decision in Quill v. North Dakota that originally established the physical presence text for sales and use tax nexus.

- Accounting Today: "Supreme Court rules against Wayfair in online sales tax battle"
- Boston Business Journal: "Supreme Court's Wayfair decision sidelines Quill"

©2026 Bowditch & Dewey LLP. All Rights Reserved.