

OF COUNSEL

John F. Nagle

T. 508-416-2469 E. jnagle@bowditch.com

OVERVIEW

John Nagle is an experienced litigator and counselor who has represented businesses and individuals in the efficient resolution of all manner of disputes. He represents plaintiffs and defendants in general business litigation and has worked with clients ranging from homeowners to small businesses to Fortune 500 companies. He handles all aspects of litigation, including negotiations, alternative dispute resolution, discovery, depositions, trial, and appeal.

John has helped clients with numerous complex issues and has significant experience with breach of contract claims, enforcement of restrictive covenants, protection of trade secrets, class action defense, construction disputes, antitrust, and consumer protection. He has worked extensively on government investigations and compliance with federal statutes and regulations in highly regulated industries, including health care and life sciences.

BEFORE BOWDITCH

John practiced at larger law firms in Boston where he represented multinational companies in complex class action litigation and defense of government enforcement actions. He has served as first chair at trial in federal court and had significant trial experience in state court as well as interactions with the U.S. Department of Justice and multiple State Attorney General offices.

AFFILIATIONS

- Committee Chairman, Boston, Georgetown Alumni Admissions Program (2007-present)
- Board of Advisors, Georgetown Alumni Admissions Program (2013-present)

BAR ADMISSIONS

- Massachusetts
- United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts
- United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit

EDUCATION

- J.D., Georgetown University Law Center
- B.A., cum laude, Georgetown University
- Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland